

Obama has failed as a leader

On Aug. 31, you printed an analysis by Jim Rutenberg, a writer for the New York Times.

I read it and found it to be thought provoking and somewhat sad, but true.

One of the main points of Mr. Rutenberg's analysis was that he finds that there are so many people who voted for Mr. Obama in 2008 that will vote for Mr. Obama again in 2012 solely to validate that their vote in 2008 was a good decision.

Mr. Obama did not take over leadership of our country when our situation was great. Mr. Obama promised us change and a better future, a better America. Anyone paying attention must see it did not happen.

I am not sure if Mr. Romney is the answer to all of our problems. I do feel the voters gave Mr. Obama a chance to show he was the man to lead us and get us back to what we should be as a country. How did he do?
