

Fourth Friday in Columbia, Marietta, and Wrightsville

Fourth Friday in Columbia has expanded! Working in coordination with the Susquehanna Valley Chamber of Commerce, participating venues will now be found in Columbia, Marietta, and Wrightsville. The event name has been modified to reflect that change. Watch for articles and signage that promote Fourth Friday in Columbia, Marietta, and Wrightsville.

Fourth Friday continues this month with a variety of exhibits and offers for the visiting public. Stop by one of many participating venues on Friday, March 22, between 5 and 9 PM. Begin your visit in Wrightsville with a stop at Weavings, Ink. to enjoy the opening reception of their "Trees" exhibit. It features an 8' wide by 5' high 5 panel weaving and intricately turned wood pieces, all focusing on the beauty of trees. Continue on to lowercase gallery for the opening reception celebrating the "four" exhibit. Here you will see highlights of the work by the gallery's four partners. Travel to Columbia to enjoy receptions and a visual feast at Garth Gallery and at Jonal Gallery. Between those two galleries, be sure to stop by Susquehanna Center for the Creative Arts where you will see the handiwork of the artists from the Marietta Arthouse, or stop at Trin's Beans where you may view the photography from Earthshine Studios.

Watch for supporting venues along the way. Enjoy special discounts and promotions at various locations including the Columbia Historic Market House, Geltz Gotz Goodeze, New Life Upcycling and Antiques, Thundermug Antiques, and Keagy's Produce featuring Watermelon Rind.

Fourth Friday in Columbia, Marietta, and Wrightsville is more than an arts experience; it's a sampling of culture and dining in the river towns. For more information, visit www.PaRivertowns.com or call 717-684-5249.

"A Well-Earned Rest" will be on exhibit at Weavings, Ink. This 8' wide by 5' high weaving is the original work of artist Phyllis Koster.